

INSTRUCTIONAL LEADERSHIP SEMINARS

QTL Instructional Leadership Seminars consist of three six-hour sessions. These sessions are designed to provide building and district level administrators an understanding of the instructional strategies and principles emphasized in The QTL™ Process, and to engage leadership in leading change.

Leadership is the key to success in schools, and quality teaching occurs throughout a school only when administrators are prepared to support and encourage the planning and work that are required. The Instructional Leadership Seminar addresses strategies for supporting teachers engaged in QTL™ programs. Participation gives administrators an understanding that enables them to guide and empower teachers as they implement and sustain the improvement process.

Outcome:

Principals develop leadership to sustain school improvement initiatives.

Outcome:

Principals develop higher levels of engagement with teachers.

Outcome:

Principals make the commitment to implement The QTL Process in individual schools.

Outcome:

Principals build capacity and buy-in among faculty and staff.
